APPENDIX "B"

GUIDELINES FOR UNION/MANAGEMENT CONSULTATION

BETWEEN

THE UNION OF CANADIAN TRANSPORTATION EMPLOYEES (MANAGEMENT)

AND

THE ALLIANCE EMPLOYEES UNION (UNION)

PREAMBLE

The purpose of a Consultation Committee is to provide a medium for the free exchange of information between Management and Union representatives. Such discussions should enable employees to be informed about and to discuss policies, conditions, problems and programs. Proposed changes should be communicated through this medium. Similarly, the employee spokesperson can communicate their views to Management on any subjects which are of importance to them. Such committees have no authority to amend the provisions of collective agreements or regulations affecting employees' terms and conditions of employment.

The intent and purpose of consultation dictate that in arriving at decisions, Management gives careful consideration to views put forward by employee representatives.

In establishing consultation committees, UCTE and the Union are in agreement that consultation is a useful, constructive exercise in promoting understanding and problem solving between Management and the Union. Therefore, both parties accept the responsibility to help make it work effectively and to encourage its acceptance by all. To that end, both parties will provide assistance and education to their representatives to ensure the efficient functioning of the consultation process.

Committees consult in a consultative capacity. To consult does not imply unanimous or majority agreement, nor does it in any way interfere with either Management's authority, its obligation to manage, or a Union's legal rights. It follows that neither party to the consultation process could, for example, expect the intent of the collective agreement to be subject to modification or amendment through the consultative process. Since collective agreements prescribe the manner in which grievances are to be processed, formal grievances shall not be introduced at consultation meetings.

On the other hand, it is recognized that inhibiting the flow of communications on what might be regarded as a technicality could dampen the enthusiasm of participants in the process. Further, the absence of a sincere desire to have effective consultation on any matters of concern between Management and employee representatives can lead to frustrations and, eventually, failure of the consultation process. The intent is to have a free flow of communications recognizing the limitations explained above.

It follows from the above principle and comments that problems will be resolved or arrangements arrived at, from a consensus of opinion of both parties rather than by a vote.

Committees shall operate in an environment in which an employee representative feels that she/he can express herself/himself freely without real or imagined apprehension that her/his individual relations with UCTE may be affected by any statement made by her/him in good faith in her/his representative capacity. Consultation is also designed to encourage the development and maintenance of harmonious relationships between UCTE and the Union. These guidelines are not intended to be restrictive, but to serve as a framework within which the Committee can operate effectively.

PROCEDURAL FRAMEWORK

General

The guidelines established herein shall serve as the basis for joint consultation proceedings.

Agendas

Prior to consultation meetings, each party will advise the other of items it wishes to have placed on the agenda at least two weeks prior to the date of the meeting. Where necessary, short explanatory notes will be included on each item to permit proper preparation. Management will prepare and distribute the agenda to the committee at least three (3) days prior to the date of the meeting.

Sub-committees

Where the parties agree, sub-committees composed of both Management and Union representatives may be established to carry out detailed investigations of problems and make recommendations to the committee for resolution. Sub-committee reports shall be submitted to the consultation committee.

Minutes of meetings

Management will prepare minutes of each committee meeting and will assign a responsible individual to perform this task. Ideally, and where feasible, in order to ensure accurate, complete yet brief minutes, an effort should be made to assign an individual to this task who is not involved full-time as a major participant at the consultation meeting.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the individual assigned to prepare the minutes will summarize the results. Within fifteen (15) working days following each meeting, the minutes will be sent to the Union for signature. Unless any discrepancies or differences of opinion are noted, the Union will return one (1) signed copy within ten (10) working days for reproduction and distribution.

Sufficient copies as required will be distributed by UCTE to the Union. Each party will be responsible for the distribution of minutes to their principals. When minutes have been signed by both parties, they will be posted in appropriate locations where the information will be readily available to employees.

AEU UNIT XI COLLECTIVE AGREEMENT

Frequency of meetings

Meetings are to be held in Ottawa twice per year, or as requested by either party. The President of UCTE or her/his delegated representative will act as chairperson of the Management side, while the AEU President or her/his delegated representative will act as the Union chairperson.
